

Taminko Jones

Publisher. Producer. Author. Speaker.

www.CoolBirdStudios.com

taminko@coolbirdstudios.com

256.935.0958

Gista, You Can Start Now...

Let's have a real conversation about personal growth and becoming the most disciplined version of yourself. Aren't you ready to stop restarting and start living in purpose, passion, and progress?

My name is Taminko Jones and my contribution to this world is to change the heart and minds of women who find it difficult to push past pain and pressure to get to the other side of faith. They're tired of relying on the reset button and their faith and habits have been compromised. They have a hard time establishing goals, employing discipline, and making valuable decisions that will benefit them five years from now. If you're feeling spiritually, mentally, physically, and/or financially depleted, I know why. No more doubting your destiny because it's time to become fully convinced in what has been predestined for your right now and your future. No more starting over, it's time to slay your Goliath and walk in fullness at any age.

1. Are you ready to strengthen your faith and confidence?
2. Are you ready to finally reach whatever goal you're trying to accomplish and stop the cycle of always starting over?
3. Are you ready to push past pain and pressure of difficult situations to get to the other side of faith so that you can trust God more all while learning how to become the most disciplined version of yourself?

ABOUT Taminko Jones

Taminko a passionate speaker, visionary, and advocate for healthy living. She is the Producer and Director of CoolBird Studios and the Publisher at CoolBird Publishing House. She influences her audience on how to strengthen their faith, habits, goals, discipline and decision-making skills. She inspires individuals to envision the best version of themselves in five years and equips them with the mindset to make that vision a reality.

Armed with an MBA in Business Administration, along with certifications in Project Management and Business Coaching, Taminko brings over 20 years of professional experience with corporate, retail, business management, hospitality, and the nonprofit sector combined. She merges structure, strategy, and creativity in every project she leads. Originally from Jackson, Mississippi and now residing in Birmingham, Alabama, Taminko is a proud mother of four adult children. Her greatest joy is watching them prosper while she continues to build a legacy of faith, excellence, and empowerment.

"You will never know how great you are until your determination is greater".

-Taminko

